COURT DECISIONS.

Notes of Cases Recently Decided, Which are of Interest to Our People.

DIGESTED BY W. B. MARTIN, (Exclusively for Virginian-Pilot.) BRADSHAW V. BRATTON.

Supreme Court of Appeals of Virginia, January 12, 1899.

FORBEARANCE TO ENFORCE A JUDGMENT AGAINST THE FORM ER OWNER OF LAND BECAUSE

THE TRESPASSER IS SOLVENT JUGGMENT AGAINST THE FORM IR OWNER OF LAND BECAUSE THE PRESENT OWNER PROMISED IN WRITING TO PAY THE JUGGMENT, IS A SUFFICIENT OWNER PROMISE.

JUGGMENT, IS A SUFFICIENT OWNER PROMISE.

Bradshaw as admr, of Lockridge obtained a judgment against one Gladwell. Subsequently Gladwell conveyed tained a judgment against one Gladwell. Subsequently Gladwell conveyed ment was assigned to Bradshaw (who as admr, had obtained the judgment). The judgment was assigned to Bradshaw (who as admr, had obtained the judgment). The judgment was assigned to Bradshaw (who as admr, had obtained the judgment). The judgment was assigned to Bradshaw (who as admr, had obtained the judgment). The judgment was assigned to Bradshaw (who as admr, had obtained the judgment of Bradshaw (who as admr, had obtained a judgment of Bradshaw (who as admr, had obtained the judgment of Bradshaw (who as admr, had obtained a better the pudgment of Bradshaw (who as admr, had obtained by the Bradshaw obtained a letter from Bratton to the clerk stating that Bradshaw having acknowledged a judgment and confessed a judgment for it, it having been agreed that the old judgment should be marked 'Satisfied.' By some of the subject o oversight this was not immediately done and Bradshaw obtained a letter from Bratton to the clerk stating that Bradshaw having acknowledged a judgment and there being a judgment against Gladwell for the same debt and not wishing to hold two judgments against Bradshaw he would please mark the latter judgment satisfied. Bradshaw carried this letter to the clerk and prevalled on him to mark "satisfied" the judgment which he had confessed. Bratton thereupon brought suit charging fraud upon Bradshaw and asking to have the entry of "satisfied" erased and annulled. Bradshaw claimed that his confession of judgment had been obtained by the false statement of Bratton's attorney that the old judgment was not barred by the statute of limitations of which he was ignorant. The lower court held that the confessied judgment was not obtained by misrepresentation and that the release was obtained by fraud and decreed for the appellee, Bratton, whereupon Bradshaw appealed. The court says: The paper signed by Bratton, in which is to be found the only semblance of authority to mark any judgment, in which is to be found the only semblance of authority to mark any judgment, though prior in roint of time was the "LATTEIL," of the two judgments in the order in which they were mentioned by Bratton in his letter, and when Bradshaw induced the clerk to enter satisfaction of the judgment in the order in which they were mentioned by Bratton in his letter, and when Bradshaw induced the clerk to enter satisfaction of the judgment in control of the produced the clerk to enter satisfaction of the judgment confessed by him, he was guilty of a fraud.

We are of colnion that the letters, especially that of July 11, 1823, is a promise to pay the judgment, but he had, from time to time, made payments upon it, and at the day of the letter.

iroversy. It is true that Bradshaw had never assumed its payment, but he had, from time to time, made payments upon it, and at the date of the letter it was a valid and subsisting charge upon real estate in his possess, on to the enforcement of which in due course of law he could have interposed no defence. We have then a written promise on Bradshaw's part to pay the Gladwell judgment, and it only remains to consider whether that promise rests upon a sufficient consideration. Bratton was in need of money; he looked to his judgment as the means by which it might be procured; he demand. I its payment; he threatened suit. In reply Bradshaw tells him, "I will pay you before you can make it by law. * *"
There is no express acceptance of this promise, but the seconds.

The St. Mary's Cadets, of which Norfolk is justly proud, is one of the foremost organizations of its kind.

The St. Mary's Cadets, of which Norfolk is justly proud, is one of the foremost organizations of its kind.

Whenever the "Cadets" march along the streets an admiring crowl is sure to watch and applaud the tactics of these bright boys.

Among 'the members, James, the loyear-old son of Wm. F. Long, of 23 Chapel street is especially noticeable for the grace and precision in which he marches. He is one of the brightest and happlest members of the cadets, and he has good reason to be.

As one sees him to-day marching with sprightly step and animated face, it is hard to reakze that a few months ago, he was a pale, sickly boy walking with listless step.

His mother, in speaking of how the change was brought about, said:

"Last Fall, James was apparently all run down, he had no appetite or ambifulen. He seemed to be rapidly failing. He had been vaccinated a few weeks before and we thought that this might be the cause of his trouble, as we feared it had affected his system. His condition worried us, Finally I decided to try Browns' Iron Bilters, as I understood it was good for ailments such as James seemed to be affected with.

"The remedy just helped him wonderfully, I could see that he was improving upon by Bratton. Having reached the conclusion that Bradshaw was under legal obligations to pay the debt represented by the "Giadwell judgment," it, of course, follows that in confessing the judgment which he now assails, he only did what Bratton could have compelled him to do by suit, and has suffered no injury. We are of opinion that there is no error in the decree of the Circuit Court and it is affirmed.

The directors are now taking hold with a vim, and it looks as though the blg entertainment will be given an imgreat success. There seems to be no doubt that a one-fare rate for the round trip will be secured, and unless the signs all fail the transportation compa nies, hotels and other business house will do their duty nobly in the big enterprise, and it will be made the success that Norfolk is jointly entitled to and should have.

RECOMMEND ONE FARE.

The Transportation Association methere yesterday and the Finance Committee from the Tidewater Carnival Association, Messrs. C. Brooks Johnston, C. A. Nash, J. W. Perry, R. Henry Jones, W. W. Dey and Harry Herman and Attorney Venable appeared before the railroad men and stated what was contemplated and asked for a rate of one fare for the round trip, and also a contribution from the various transporation lines. Among the railroad men present at the meeting were Mr. William Randall, of Baltimore, from the lay Line, and Captain Bourne, of New Yor, of the Old Dominion Steamship Company.

A motion was adopted recommending that a one-fare round-trip be granted the Mischianza, and also that the various companies make generous contributions to the entertainment.
